MARCH 2003

From the Office of Fifth District Supervisor Jerry Eaves

Look what's new at the Library!

Did you know that the San Bernardino County Library offers a virtual library that can be utilized 24 hours a day, 7 days a week via their website? It's called webLibr@ry. Go to <http://www.sbcounty.gov/library> and click on the webLibr@ry button. Here you can find a wealth of information that can help you do research at work, home or school.

In the left frame are direct links to the County Library's electronic databases, with full-text articles. Databases include:

- Info Trac (magazines and newspaper articles)
- Business Resource Center (articles on business and personal finance topics and company information)
- Biography Resource Center, United States, Modern World and Ancient History
- Mitchell's On Demand (auto repair information – available in Library branches only)

- NetLibrary (electronic books that you can check out and read on your computer)
- Learn ATest (test preparation materials for school and career plus English language courses for Spanish speakers)
- Online Book Club (introductions to new books and authors via e-mail)
- World Book Encyclopedia
- What do I read next? (advises readers on books to read)

The topic buttons in the main frame take you to reviewed Internet websites and various reference sources. Need statistics? Click on the Reference button and find links to websites that contain statistics.

Whether you are looking for data at work, homework help for your child, or are just curious about something for yourself the San Bernardino County Library's webLibr@ry can help you out.
